

ProSnap® Filter Bags

The most significant advance in snap-in bags since their invention.

Snap-in bags are known for their relatively simple installation compared to designs which require clamps. They are also known for the tremendous strain they place on fingers and tendons in the wrist. ProSnap bags deliver the advantages of snap-in bags without the disadvantages.

A Better Snap-in Bag

ProSnap filter bags are the best snap-in bags available. They provide:

- Easier and quicker changeouts. The ProSnap band is much easier to deform, making installation and removal a far less fatiguing operation. Your maintenance staff will thank you.
- A more secure seal. Because ProSnap provides 2-point sealing (conventional snap-in bags provide 1-point sealing), there is less chance of a leak if some grid plate holes are over-size.
- Good Value. ProSnap bags cost no more than conventional bags, so you keep all the savings they produce.

The ProSnap bag has been thoroughly tested and is preferred by customers who have used it.

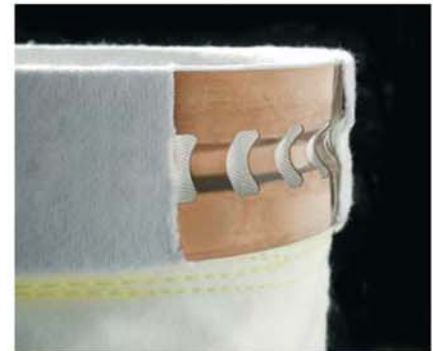

The ProSnap bag is much easier on the hands during changeouts.

A Different Kind of Band

Snap-in bags have a spring steel band sewn into the top cuff. Conventional bags have a flat band. ProSnap bands feature a rounded groove formed around the middle of the band. This groove gives the bag its exceptional sealing ability because the grid plate hole edge fits well into the groove.

In addition, the groove is slotted, allowing the band to flex easily. It requires much less force to insert and remove.

The unique shape of the ProSnap's band is key to its superior qualities.
